SOME TUBERCULOSIS STATISTICS

Probably no state in the Union has made a more determined or more successful warfare on bovine tuberculosis than Wisconsin, and some figures which have been lately published relative to this campaign are interesting and should also be profitable to dairymen in other sections. The educational campaign has been conducted by means of addresses, printed bulletins and postcard demonstrations given in co-operation with the state live stock sanitary board. Since the tuberculosis test was first applied, in 1902, 72,638 animals have been tested, over 60,000 of this number coming within the past three years. The state has paid the owners two-thirds of the approved value of reacting animals, receiving in return whatever was paid for the carcasses of these animals passed by the federal inspectors. There has been a decrease in the per cent of reacting animals from 17.7 per cent in 1906 to 5.3 per cent in 1908. In 1909 almost half the herds which were tested were found infected, while in 1908 less than one-fourth had the disease. In 1909 12 per cent of the animals tested were found to be infected. The data which the station officials have gathered shows that the most common method of herd infection is through the purchase of diseased animals, 233 out of 235 herds found infected in 1908 being infected through purchase. A new requiring a clean bill of health with each animal sold is strongly urged, as is also legislation requiring the pasteurization of factory hygienic tests.

THE FOLLY OF TEMPORIZING.

It is that there are not more farm papers of the type of a few which might be named which have looked the situation regarding bovine tuberculosis through to the end and have uncompromisingly in season and out of season advocated a thorough testing of affected herds and the eradication of all animals found diseased. One of these papers is Hord's Dairyman, printed at Fort Atkinson, Wis., and the service which it has performed for the dairy industry of that and adjoining states can hardly be estimated. Those papers which have followed a temporizing policy—opposed the testing of dairy herds because the immediate loss to the owners seemed heavy—have caused dairymen who have followed this advice tremendous loss in the long run, as laws which prevent the sale of milk from diseased cows have been passed in many states, while the job of ridding a herd of diseased animals and building it up again on a new basis is one that requires much time and attention. The rest of the agricultural papers should move over to the other side of the house in this vital matter.

PRACTICAL CO-OPERATION.

A number of farmers living near Rogers, in Hennepin county, Minn., have according to a farm paper published at the Twin Cities, put into practice this year a most commendable type of co-operation. It has consisted simply in getting their herds together and agreeing to plant a single variety of potatoes for their field crop, with the thought in view that with a large quantity of potatoes raised by farmers would come and offer a good price for the crop. They exercised a good deal of pains in the growing and care of their spud crop, and their hopes have been fully realized. The harvest yielded on the average 175 bushels per acre, were of one variety and of uniform size and quality. The buyers came and paid the growers 40 cents per bushel at the cars, nearly 10 cents more than growers in many other sections received. This idea of co-operation in vegetable and fruit production is very practical and profitable, and its benefits can hardly be too strongly urged.

THE ROUTINE FALLS.

Many a lad leaves the farm for city occupation because of the dull monotonous routine of its work, in the doing of which little effort is made by the farm owner to adopt new or to date methods which recognize the place of intelligence as well as sheer muscular effort as an important factor in getting work out of the way. There is absolutely no field of endeavor where the application of brains will yield a larger net return than in agriculture, and it is about this a whole lot of fellows who have been content to make a clodhopper occupation of it were rubbing their eyes and awaking to the fact. It can only be viewed as a tribute to agriculture as an occupation that so many who have been engaged in it have been able to make a living and something besides, following as they have such slowly and indifferently and applying so small an amount of gray matter to the work they had in hand.

SCOTT & BOWNE, 409 Pearl St., N. Y.

Every human being so blessed should be thankful for the physical strength wherewith to earn his daily bread and an appetite and stomach which will enable him to enjoy and digest it properly. These are common blessings, yet a good many people are denied them.

In making preparation for the winter food supply for the poultry it is well to keep in mind that both clover and alfalfa are excellent ration in the supplying of needed protein. The hens will devour all leafy parts of the legumes as eagerly as they will wheat or corn.

Limberneck is an ailment which now and then appears in flocks of poultry and seems to be due to a diseased condition of the neck, induced by poisons contained in partly decayed meat. The cure is to remove diseased fowls from those that are well and the feeding of ground bone and meat scraps that are fresh and unadulterated.

Carrots, beets and turnips which it may be desired to carry through the winter should be packed in barrels or bins with clean sawdust or dry earth, enough filler being used to keep the roots separated a bit. The place where such crops are stored should be both cool and dry so as to retard as far as possible the tendency to decay or rot.

There is no profit and mighty little satisfaction in the end in buying fruit trees of unknown descent and dubious vitality of a foreign house at long prices when the same varieties guaranteed true to name and vigorous can be bought from the nearby nursery at more reasonable prices. Before placing orders for future deliveries with the foreign house it would be a good idea to write the nearby house and get prices.

Experiments which have lately been conducted in the bacteriological department of the University of Wisconsin seem to point quite conclusively to the fact that a good many cases of poisoning from the eating of ice cream are traceable to the keeping of the cream from which it is made for some length of time in cold storage, during which interval poisons are developed by harmful bacteria, whose work is not discernible from either texture or taste.

The apple crop of America—United States and Canada—is placed at 33,000,000 barrels, which is 12,000,000 barrels more than that of 1908. It is generally conceded that the crop per acre is inferior to that of the year before, and that a fallow is paying 40 or better per barrel for runty Ben Davis in November.

The covering of the strawberry bed, if it needs covering, should be deferred until the ground has frozen solid. Then enough clean straw or compost should be scattered over the bed to shield it from the alternate thawing and freezing of the bright days and cold nights of the winter months. If the ground is frozen, as suggested, before the covering is applied this frozen body holds the plants in complete cold storage, it being easy to retard the growth and blossoming of the plants in the spring by simply leaving the covering on.

That Lame Back Means

Kidney Disease

And to Relieve the Lame and Aching Back, You Must First Relieve the Kidneys

There is no question about that at all—for the lame and aching back is caused by a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder. It is only common sense, any way that you must cure a condition by removing the cause of the condition. And lame and aching back are not by any means the only symptoms of derangement of the kidneys and bladder. There are a multitude of well-known and unmistakable indications of a more or less dangerous condition. Some of these are, for instance: Extreme and unnatural lassitude and weakness, nervous irritability, loss of regularity, "nerves on edge," sleeplessness and inability to secure rest, scalding sensation and vomiting in the urine, inflammation of the bladder and passages, etc.

DeWitt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are an exceptionally efficacious remedy for any and all affections or diseased conditions of these organs. These Pills operate directly and promptly—and their beneficial results are at once felt.

They regulate, purify, and effectively heal and restore the kidneys, bladder and liver, to perfect and healthy condition—even in some of the most advanced cases.
